ABSTRACT

[0058] An ink drying system for printer includes an IR heating element.

A guide is configured to concentrate heat energy from the IR heating element to warm print media. A controller is configured to control operation of the IR heating element.